The Year of the Dragon!

2024 is a very significant year for my husband Ken. He turns 60 and it's the Year of the Dragon. When it comes to the Chinese zodiac the dragon is the only imaginary animal and in ancient times people thought that dragons were best suited to be world leaders and presidents of companies with the character traits of dominance and ambition.

I think in many ways Ken is definitely a dragon but if you ask him, he would probably say, well I think I'm lucky in that I'm the first son of six children and born on Chinese New Year's Day... other than that, he's humble when it comes to all of his wonderful traits. And for me, when it comes to good fortune... I guess I'm the one with the lucky prize.

Also for the year 2024. Please look for fun new card making classes which could be turned into kits and fun new stationery and handmade papers for the store. It's a great time to be creative and do something new and exciting with your hands. So fun!

A little tidbit about me

When I was reporting for Fox News in Kansas City in 1995 the first grocery in the region called Hen House in Prairie Village, Kansas decided to sell fresh made-to-order packaged sushi. I was ecstatic and couldn't wait to do a live shot on this milestone. For Kansas City, the number 29 TV market in the U.S. — it was a big deal to market raw fish to its midwest customers. You know I was their number one fan. So who else was a fan in a region where Asians were not a popular demographic? I'm based right in front of the sushi counter awaiting a good sound bite from someone who is craving sushi... and who comes in, Joe Montana's assistant. Yes! The NFL quarterback's co worker. Well, of course, the former 49er just signed on with the Chiefs and he really wanted a taste from the Far East. The next customer I interviewed told me they were curious to try sushi ever since they watched Molly Ringwald eat sushi in the movie, The Breakfast Club. I thought that was hilarious. It's these "firsts" as an asian american reporter in the midwest that made tv stories and sound bites so fun. Who would've known sushi is like milk and cookies. You find it in its own aisle and always a popular go to food!
